Eleven Companies Are Included In The Huge
Consolidation

NEW YORK, July 12.—In connection with the proposed consolidation of eleven aeroplane manufacturing, flying and servicing organizations into the Curtiss-Wright Corporation, which will be the largest organization of its kind in the world, the committee representing the larger stockholders of these various organizations issued a call today requesting that the stocks of the various companies to be included in the merger be deposited on or before August 15, 1929.

With the publication of the deposit agreement it was further announced that Hayden, Stone & Co., Bancamerica-Blair Corporation, James C. Willson & Co., Dominick & Dominick, G. M. P. Murphy & Co., Hemphill Noyes & Co. and Jackson & Curtis and other holders of large stock interests in the various companies have already indicated their approval of the plan, and the stock, which they either own or control, will be deposited for exchange for the shares of the new Curtiss-Wright Corporation.

The eleven companies to be included in the consolidation are the Curtiss Aeroplane and Motor Company, Inc., Curtiss-Robertson Airplane Manufacturing Company, Curtiss Flying Service, Inc., Curtiss Aeroplane Export Corporation, Curtiss Airports Corporation, Curtiss-Caproni Corporation, Wright Aeronautical Corporation, Keystone Aircraft Corporation, Moth Aircraft Corporation, New York and Suburban Air Lines, Inc., and New York Air Terminals, Inc.

The Bankers Trust Company, of New York, has been designated as depository to represent the committee, which has been organized for the purpose of carrying out the proposed consolidation. The sub-depositaries are the St. Louis Union Trust Company, Girard Trust Company, in Philadelphia; Bank of Italy National Trust and Savings Association in either Los Angeles or San Francisco; Louisville Trust Company; the Marine Trust Company, of Buffalo; the Peoples Trust and Savings Bank, of Chicago; the First National Bank, of Boston; Canal Bank and Trust Company, of New Orleans, and Guardian Trust Company, of Detroit. The personnel of the committee, which has been appointed to effect this huge combination of prominent airplane manufacturing and servicing companies, all of whom have been long identified with the development and financing of aviation, comprises Richard F. Hoyt, chairman; J. Cheever Cowling, Charles Hayden C. M. Keys, Charles L. Lawrence, Grayson M. P. Murphy, B. A. Tompkins and J. C. Willson.

Under the terms of the consolidation plan, Curtiss-Wright Corporation will issue one share of its Class A stock and four and one-half shares of its common stock for each share of Curtiss Aeroplane and Motor Company, Inc., common stock outstanding. In regard to the other companies, the exchange will be made on the following basis: Five-twelfths of a share of Curtiss-Wright Corporation common stock for each share of Curtiss Airports Corporation stock outstanding, five-sixths of a share of Curtiss-Wright Corporation common stock for each share of Curtiss Flying Service, Inc., outstanding, one and three-tenths shares of Curtiss-Wright Corporation common stock for each share of Curtiss Aeroplane Export Corporation, five-twelfths of a share of Curtiss-Wright Corporation common stock for each share of Curtiss-Caproni Corporation.

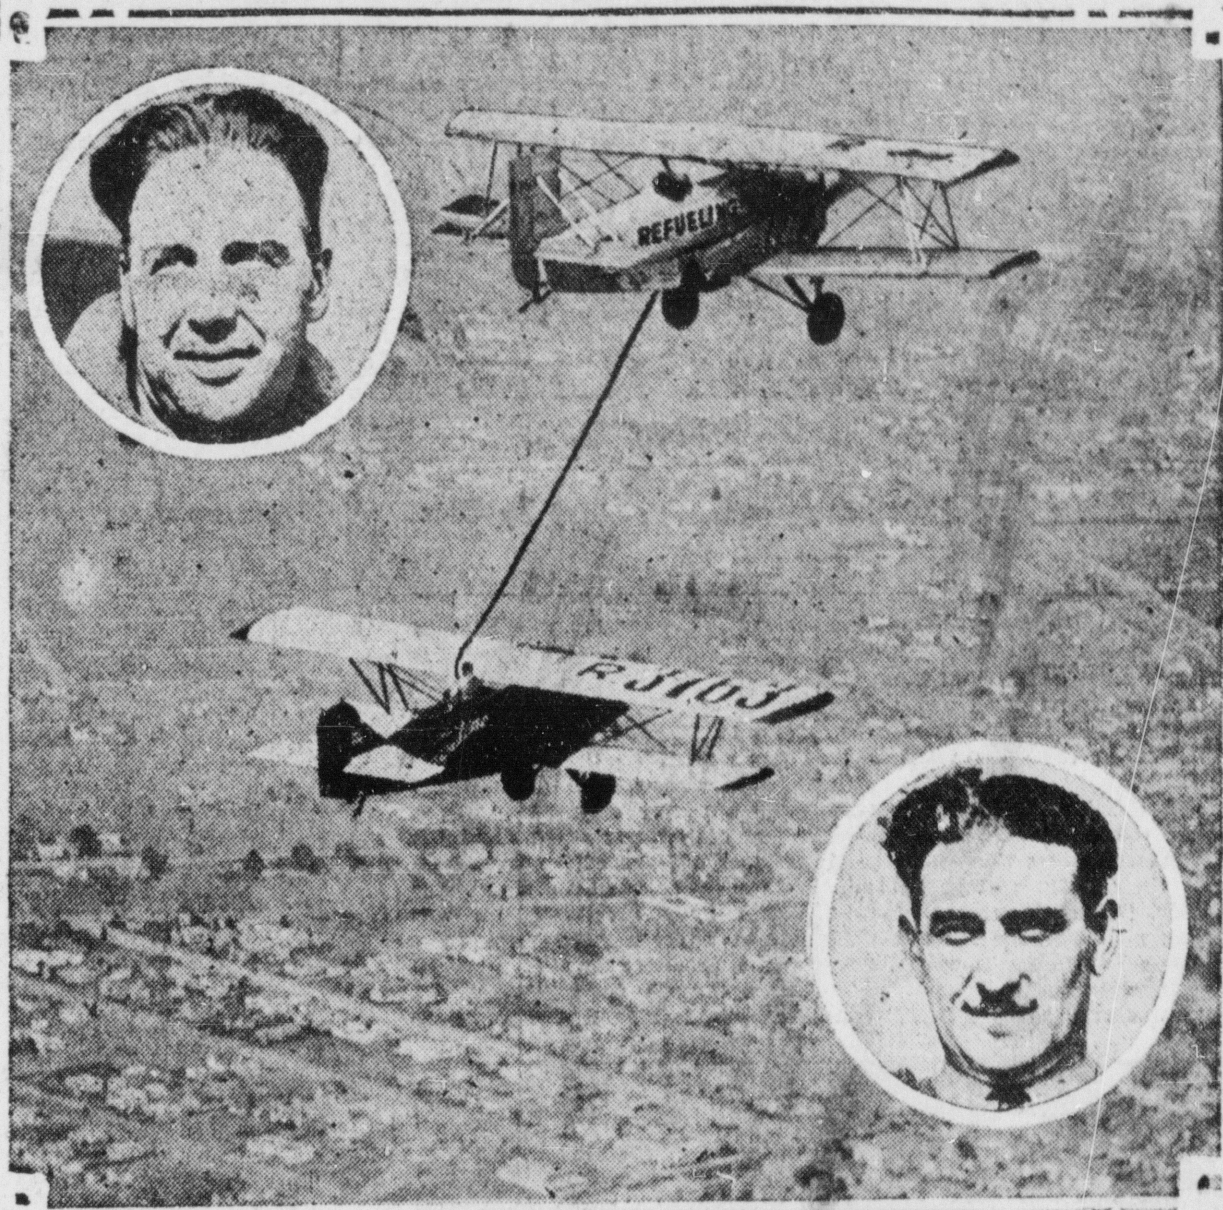

Two shares of Curtiss-Wright Corporation common stock for each share of Curtiss-Robertson Airplane Manufacturing Company, Inc., outstanding, one share of Class A and three and one-quarter shares of common of Curtiss-Wright Corporation for each share of Wright Aeronautical Corporation, one-half share of Class A and one share of common stock of the Curtiss-Wright Corporation for each share of Keystone Aircraft Corporation.

One share of Curtiss-Wright Corporation common stock for each Moth Aircraft Corporation unit outstanding, two-fifths of a share of Curtiss-Wright Corporation common stock for each share of New York and Suburban Air Lines, Inc., outstanding, one share of Curtiss-Wright Corporation common for each share of New York Air Terminals, Inc.

BRISTOL FIRM INSTALLS BURNER

S. B. Ardrey & Sons have about finished the installation of the heating plant in the Jesse L. Porter residence at Langhorne. This plant is unique in the fact that the living and dining rooms are fitted with concealed heating units made by the Trane Vapor Heating Co., and the home is equipped with an Oil-O-Matic burner.—(Adv.)

'We're Up From Now On,' Say Enduranciers

A certain second-hand airplane powered by a second-hand motor, but piloted by two first-class aviators, L. W. Mendell and R. B. Reinhart, was still circling over Culver City, Cal., after having passed its two hundredth hour in the air. As the black plane swung around the field and at each retreating, the nonchalant, light-hearted gestures of the fliers indicated their spirits apparently were no nearer the breaking point than the roaring cylinders of their 220-horsepower motor.

LOCAL BROADCASTING IS HEARD AT HOSPITAL FETE

Bristol Merchant Responsible For Unusual Feature At Attraction Here

MME. SCHORSCH THERE

Nightly hundreds at the Harriman Hospital lawn fete marvel at the broadcasting system that makes possible the announcements of attractions at the affair, through the same radio which a few minutes previous carried to thousands the voices of singers and the sounds of music from New York studio.

The installation of this remarkable net-work of wires and broadcasting device was made possible through the courtesy of Alfred Tomesani, Mill street merchant.

Each night the voice of Mr. Tomesani or one of his representatives reaches those about the ground through means of the radio, as the magic is spoken of that is about to thrill many, the card games told of, and the many other attractions brought before the patrons.

One of the chief attractions announced in this means last evening and which was thoroughly enjoyed was work in magic by Madame Ada Schorsch, of Langhorne.

Madame Schorsch is a magician of merit, having appeared before audiences in all sections of Pennsylvania as well as in other states. A musician of merit, she was accompanied last evening by a juvenile orchestra, composed mostly of Bristol tots. These young music lovers, it is stated, have been studying music for but a short time, but under the direction of Madame Schorsch are doing splendidly. Their numbers brought rounds of applause.

Miss Schorsch, daughter of the talented woman, gave selections upon two sets of bells. These attractions will call many to the hospital grounds this evening as well as tomorrow night.

A variety of eatables are on sale; and the children's fashion parade for which prizes are offered by Smith Model Shop will be of interest. Fortune telling nightly attracts many to the booth of a fortune teller who delves into the past, and paints pictures of the future of her customers.

PLAN CARD PARTY

For the benefit of Robert W. Bracken Post, No. 382, American Legion, a card party will be conducted by the Legion Auxiliary in the new home of the organization, Radcliffe street, Monday evening next. Playing of pin-ochle and "500" will start at 8.15.

TRADE NOTES

Frank Green's July clearance sale of shoes is now under way, hundreds of pairs of shoes of all makes for every member of the family being reduced in price.

For this stupendous reduction sale of foot-gear Mr. Green has placed on his display tables and cases the latest styles of pumps, oxfords, tennis shoes and novelty shoes.

Included in the aggregation are many famous makes, values that are hard to equal.

BRACKEN POST WILL DEDICATE HOME OCT. 12

Plans Are Now Being Made
For Big Affair
Here

COMMITTEES NAMED

Robert W. Bracken Post, No. 382, American Legion, is planning for a big time when they dedicate the new home which the Post recently purchased at 619 Radcliffe street.

Preliminary arrangements call for dedication exercises to be held Saturday, October 12th. Big things are being planned for that day. A monster parade is to be held and visiting posts are expected from many neighboring towns and cities.

Junior Vice Commander, George W. Croner is chairman of the committee.

At a recent meeting of the Post the "American Legion Memorial Home Association, Inc." was formed and the following officers were named:

President, Richard W. Fechtenberg; vice president, Samuel H. Hardy; secretary, Arthur F. Zug; treasurer, William H. Sigafos.

Directors: Richard W. Fechtenberg and William H. Sigafos, three years; William B. Dalton and Robert W. Downing, two years; I. J. Hetherington and Samuel H. Hardy, one year.

The only officers voted upon were the vice-president and the treasurer because at a meeting in June the Post adopted a motion which automatically made the commander the president of the Home Association and the post adjutant the secretary.

Members will procure a charter for the Association.

The following will represent Bracken Post at the convention to be held next month in Scranton: Richard W. Fechtenberg, alternates, Robert B. Downing and George W. Croner.

The auxiliary of Bracken Post elected Mrs. Robert Downing and Mrs. Ralph Scheffey as delegates to the State convention which meets in Scranton next month.

The Auxiliary has named the following committees:
Picnic—Miss Emily Bracken, Mrs. Walter Strouse and Mrs. Arthur Zug; dedication—Mrs. Maurice Delker, Mrs. Cullen, Mrs. Fechtenberg, Mrs. Robert Clark, Sr., Mrs. Ralph Scheffey; carnival, Mrs. Dettmer, Mrs. Downing, Mrs. Ahart, Mrs. Clark, Jr., Miss Bessie Rafferty.

STATE HEALTH BOARD ASKED TO HALT POLLUTION

Destruction of the Neshaminy Valley Threatened Unless It Is Stopped

FISH ASS'N PROTESTS

DOYLESTOWN, July 12.—The destruction of the Neshaminy Valley as an open-air playground is threatened unless the pollution of the Neshaminy Creek is stopped, prominent sportsmen of Bucks county declared today when it was announced that the Bucks County Fish, Game and Forestry Association has asked the Pennsylvania State Health Department to have the condition remedied immediately.

It is contended that for the last two years numerous complaints have been registered by sportsmen and owners of land along the picturesque Neshaminy Creek, and that no action has resulted.

Various organizations of Bucks county have authorized investigations as to the source of the pollution and reports have been made that it is the belief that Lansdale sewerage has caused the pollution. Lansdale, ten miles west of here, it is contended, has a sewer system that is inadequate.

The pollution of the Neshaminy Creek over a distance of ten miles between Lansdale and Penrose's Flats, south of here, is not only a menace to public health but an eyesore to the property owners living anywhere near the creek, the complainants allege.

"There are lots of dead fish to be found along the Neshaminy," said George MacLennan, president of the Bucks County Fish, Game and Forestry Association, an organization with 1500 members. "The pollution which I believe comes from Lansdale, is drawing bass out of the stream. Fish will certainly not live in that kind of water."

So aggravated has become the condition that residents of Newtown, Langhorne, Hulmeville and Bristol are organizing to appeal as a body to the State Health Department to make a rigid investigation without delay so that the pollution will not spread to those sections some distance from here.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Heath and Mr. and Mrs. Asa Smith and children, of "Hedgevale," Midway, spent the week-end in the Poconos.

CULVER CITY, Cal., July 12.—Two newly-revealed heroes of the air, Loren W. Mendell and R. B. "Pete" Reinhart, gradually tightened their grip on aeronautical fame today as they relentlessly drove their faithful Buhl air sedan "Angeleno" onward toward their ambitious goal of 300 hours of continuous flight. Having already surpassed every similar endurance test in aviation history, the two courageous pilots maintained a steady circling course over the airport here, after more than 238 hours of unbroken flying had been accumulated.

CANADA INVITES MOTORISTS FOR ALLURING TOURS

Trip to Montreal and Along
Beautiful St. Lawrence
To Quebec Outlined

HISTORIC ATTRACTIONS

Shrine of Ste. Anne de Beaupre Annually Attracts Thousands

Motorists seeking a vacation trip on which they will find plenty of open space for driving will find no more alluring journey than one leading into Canada at Montreal and along the beautiful St. Lawrence River to Quebec, as mapped by the Keystone Automobile Club.

"More than 11,000 miles of good roads stretch through the Canadian provinces at this point and often there are long reaches of open highway where the travelers can see for miles ahead without another car in sight," says Russell B. Carty, representative of the club. "Through modern cities quaint old world villages and past birchwoods, troutbrooks and Norman farms the tourists pass through the St. Lawrence River country on a vacation journey that will long be remembered."

The crossing of the boundary is at Rouses Point and from here over the famous King Edward Highway leads into Montreal. Motorists may take their cars into Canada for touring purposes for a period of thirty days by simply securing a permit. This also grants the right of return through any other port of entry. Tariff regulations permit Americans to bring home souvenirs and articles for personal use valued up to $100, free from income duty.

From Bristol pass through Langhorne, Newtown and Buckingham to Doylestown. From there the tour leads northward over national route 611 through the Delaware Water Gap section into East Stroudsburg. Here national route 209 is followed to Port Jervis. Northward over national route 611 the journey passes through Wurtsboro to Kingston on the banks of the Hudson River. Using the famous Storm King Mountain Trail, marked as national route 9 the tourists pass through Albany, Saratoga Springs, Lake George, Schroon Lake and Plattsburg into Rouses Point.

From Rouses Point the tourists follow the King Edward Highway to Lacolle where the Canadian Customs House is located. Northward from here the tour leads to St. Lambert, where the St. Lawrence River is crossed by bridge into Montreal. This charming city is filled with delightful places of interest and on every hand are monuments, historic sites and sections combining views of the old and new world. Montreal's churches alone would make her famous and among them is St. Joseph's Oratory, second only to Ste. Anne de Beaupre in its reputation for miraculous cures. Westward over provincial route 17 a side trip can be made through the Laurentian Mountains to Ottawa, capital city of the Dominion.

Northward from Montreal provincial route 2 leads along the bank of the beautiful St. Lawrence through L'Assomption and Berthier to Three Rivers, a town founded on the site of one of the oldest trading posts in North America. At short distances over excellent highways all manner of interesting spots can be visited. Among them are Shawinigan Falls and Grand Mere the site of Grandmothers Rock, a rare natural wonder. Through Champlain and Neaveville the tour reaches Quebec. Here the modern city joins hands with the ancient town steeped in historic lore of French history of the 17th century.

In addition to its historic attractions, this second largest city in the province, is rich in scenic interest. The towns and parishes near the city all of which provide delightful side trips, are not lacking in romantic, sacred and historic association. Northward from Quebec the highway leads to that delightful resort section of Murray Bay eighty miles distant. Enroute the travelers reach Ste. Anne de Beaupre and thousands of visitors visit this historic shrine of Ste. Anne. This year a novena will be held there from July 17 to 25. Homeward the journey leads back through Quebec, Montreal to Rouses Point where the same highways can be used on which the journey started.

Mothers and Children Enjoy Picnic at Edgely

The Mothers' Association of the high school enjoyed a picnic at Edgely Park on Wednesday.

The mothers and their children gathered early in the afternoon and bathing, races, games, also cards, were enjoyed.

Some of the fathers' joined the party for supper and the evening. There were about fifty in attendance, making the picnic a most successful affair.

OL' SWIMMIN' HOLE IS POPULAR THESE DAYS

"Watering Places" Attract Youth As Well As Old Age

DOGS JOIN IN SPORT

Auto tire tubes are good for more than one purpose, especially in summer time, says juvenile Bristol—and that's as life preservers at the ol' swimmin' hole.

"Watering places" are plentiful about the borough, and during the prolonged hot spell the youth and those more advanced in years are making use of them.

Swimmers and non-swimmers alike, disport themselves in the cooling waters of the Delaware and canal. Not only in the afternoons, but in the morning and evening as well are these spots popular.

Hundreds of tots daily find their way to the Mill street locks, using the stone foundations of the bridge for diving platforms, jumping in the pool near their playmates, and splashing the water high. Tommy, Dickie and Little Harry vie for honors in "ducking" the longest, while their playmates count the seconds.

Dogs are not left at home either, for those who are not invited by their diminutive owners follow at the earliest moment they are freed. For long periods the boys and girls throw sticks and rubber balls out over the water, and then patiently wait until Rover returns with them in his mouth.

Channel grass occupies the attention of many at the Washington and Jefferson avenue canal bridges, and after it is rolled into a ball strikes a companion with a squashy thud as he bobs out of the water.

For the smallest ones the large auto tubes are made to fit in a few seconds, the ring being wrapped two or three times about the slender body.

The matter of a bathing suit isn't so important after all, it seems, especially when the humidity reaches the degree it has during the past week. For any old bag will do it appears, and some of these improvised bathing suits are gaily decorated with bright colored chalks or paints. Little sister dons an old costume she has nearly outgrown and is ready for her dip; sonny grabs his trunks and makes a dash for the nearest swimming place; and the older ones wend their way more leisurely to the beach—but to each comes the same thrill with the first cooling dip.

NEARLY THIRD ON LIST HAVE SIGNED AS JOINT OWNERS

Proponents Still Contend That Majority in District Favor
Incorporation

Hearing To Be Resumed On September 5th at Doylestown

DOYLESTOWN, July 12.—After hearing seventeen witnesses in the application of freeholders of Andalusia for incorporation into a borough, Judge Samuel E. Shull, of Stroudsburg, continued the hearing until September 5th.

Questions of law of unusual interest arose in the opening day of the hearing when Judge Shull ruled that where the names of man and wife as joint owners are signed on the petition asking for incorporation, neither can be considered a freeholder and neither is qualified under the act of assembly to be considered as such.

The petition presented to the Court contained more than fifty-one per cent of the freeholders of the Bensalem township section proposed for incorporation, according to counsel for the petitioners. Seventeen witnesses were called, and all but one were "double signers," where the property was in the name of man and wife jointly. Upon further examination of the petition it was found that 93 names were signed jointly out of the list of 294 on the petition.

J. Hibbs Buckman, of Langhorne, attorney for the petitioners, contended that in spite of the ruling of the Court the petitioners still had enough "single" signers to represent more than fifty-one per cent of the registered freeholders of the community.

Counsel representing the school board, the board of supervisors and a large number of objecting residents would not admit this. Mr. Buckman then called upon the Recorder of Deeds to produce the deed book in which are recorded the properties of all those who signed the petition for incorporation. This will necessitate a lengthy hearing and it is quite possible that the balance of the year will be consumed before the hearing is completed.

The opening day of the hearing was marked by counsel on both sides failing to agree on any suggestions that might save time. The only thing agreed upon by both sides was that the case be continued for a further hearing on September 5th.

Among those called by the petitioners citizens' attorney yesterday to testify as being freeholders of Andalusia were: Mrs. Laura V. N. Hunter, who circulated the petition, May K. Schnupp, Louis C. Hartman, Ray A. Crowthers, Edward G. Katzenmeyer, Andrew J. Keyser, Francis J. Rosshower, Robert R. Miller, Lyria Clearmont, Anna E. Kemmerle, Martha A. Dount, Rachel M. Parker, Clara J. Jackson, Alfreda E. Jackson, Walter Herron, Joseph C. Sharp and Thomas Bromley.

In the hearing the opposing petitioners who have filed a remonstrance against the incorporation of the district were represented by George Ross, Doylestown; Charles J. Biddle, well-known Andalusia resident; and Howard I. James, of Bristol.

Twenty separate petitions filed against incorporation have not as yet been considered by the court and not until it is decided whether the petition for incorporation contains more than fifty-one per cent of the registered freeholders.

It was the contention of the opposing lawyers yesterday after Judge Shull's ruling on the "double signers" not being freeholders in this instance, that the petition has a very small proportion of freeholders left on it.

After counsel on both sides had briefly outlined the proposition to the Court, the opposing lawyers won the first point when the Court ruled that it was first the duty of the petitioners to prove they had more than fifty-one per cent of the freeholders on the petition.

Opponents of the petition contend that the proper way to ascertain whether those signing the petition are freeholders is by producing the official records in the court house. It was intimated that the deeds in the Recorder of Deeds' office are the only official documents to prove it.

"Well, we will be here all summer if we have to produce the deeds and then we will catch no fish," Mr. Buckman said.

"Well, the Court likes fishing," Judge Shull remarked.

The opponents have already challenged many names on the petition for incorporation. They claim that where a man and wife sign as joint property owners but one name should be counted instead of two.

A RELENTLESS WAR

In its heroic war on the yellow fever the Rockefeller Foundation has pursued the dread disease and the mosquito which spreads it to Darkest Africa. There is evidence that this disease, long regarded as a New World product, was in reality brought to this hemisphere from Africa by mosquito larvae which lurked in the water jars of the slave ships. At any rate, it has been virtually eradicated on this side of the Atlantic, and if the doctors are to realize their hope of making it as extinct as the dodo the great battle will have to be continued in Africa.

It is one of the great heroic epics of modern times, one of those magnificent achievements which make despair of the human race impossible. It was only a quarter century ago that American doctors in Cuba proved that the disease was carried by mosquitoes. Until after the turn of the century it was one of those dread scourges which men fear the more for not understanding them.

For centuries yellow fever had annually taken a terrible toll of lives in Central America and the tropical portions of North and South America. New Orleans suffered from periodic epidemics until 1905. Central America is free of it for the first time in two and one-half centuries. There have been minor outbreaks in Brazil in recent years, but even there the situation is in control.

However, many difficulties will be encountered by the yellow fever hunters in Africa. It has a vast tropical area and a suspicious native population of 30,000,000. Here, surely, are romance and adventure enough to thrill the adventurer and to silence those who talk of "this degenerate age."

UNFAVORABLE

For the first time since April, 1926, the value of exports has fallen below the total for imports. Ordinarily from April to June there is a shrinkage in outgoing shipments, and this year proved no exception. But the surprising feature was the drop of nine per cent in May exports under May, 1928, in view of the consistently heavy gains which were registered earlier in the year.

The May results in foreign trade created the first unfavorable balance since April, 1926. The import surplus was $14,000,000, and brought the favorable balance for the first five months of year down to $298,632,000.

Several factors contributed to this disappointing result. Money market developments entered in, since buyers in foreign countries where currencies are now at a discount with the dollar curtailed their purchases of American goods. Most of the loss in export trade was suffered by cotton due to seasonal reasons.

There might be some cause for alarm in the increase in imports if it were not known that the May jump was due to the desire of importers to get in additional stocks before a higher tariff goes into effect.

Though an unfavorable trade balance is a threat to national prosperity, there is no immediate cause for concern. The May balance can be accounted for satisfactorily.

The need is for more of the square deal and fewer queer deals.

There is much about crime in the newspapers—and in the Bible.

THE DESERT SONG By VIRGINIA MORRIS

"THE DESERT SONG" is a Warner Bros. picturization of this novel. It is based upon the story by Otto Harbach, Laurence Schwab, Oscar Hammerstein, 2nd, and Frank Mandel.

SYNOPSIS

A mellow moon lights the desert as the Riffs, that intrepid band of Moroccan outlaws, ride back across the sands to their far-away lair, safe from the tyranny of the French. Their leader is a mysterious stranger, called the Red Shadow, who has come out of nowhere to champion their cause. Not even his soldiers have seen his face for he conceals it behind a mask that matches his scarlet burnoose. The Riffs congregate around the camp fire to tell each other the news they have picked up at Fez. One man has heard that Captain Paul Fontaine has been commissioned to lead a regiment of the Foreign Legion against them. Another has learned that Fontaine is in love with Margot Bonvalet, a beautiful French girl who is visiting General Birabeau, the commandant. The Riffs are cursing both Fontaine and the girl when they are interrupted by the Red Shadow himself.

CHAPTER II

Every line of his fine straight figure proclaimed the fighter. He wore a loose, bright scarlet burnoose, the hood of which was held firmly around his forehead by a wide white band. He was shod in gleaming black military boots and his sword was sheathed in the scabbard that hung beneath the folds of his cloak. His chin suggested that his face was as handsome as his physique but one could not be sure of this because his cheeks and eyes were concealed behind a scarlet mask. This, which he always wore, had helped to surround him with an aura of mystery for even his closest henchman had never seen him without it.

With a wave of his hand, the Red Shadow signaled his followers to be at ease. They relaxed from their military attitude and segregated into small groups. Their leader approached Sid El Kar and Hassi, who was another of his trusted fighters in spite of his advancing years.

"I overheard this talk of Captain Fontaine," he said, "and I scorn his threats! But I do not like the references to this girl they call Margot."

His listeners looked up in surprise. Then he continued, addressing himself to Hassi, "My friend, I want your promise. The sign of the Heart and the Head."

"It is gladly given," affirmed the oriental as he placed his right hand over his heart, then raised it solemnly to his forehead in the desert ritual that signifies a sacred pledge.

The Red Shadow lowered his voice to a whisper, "If anything should happen to me, no harm must ever come to Margot Bonvalet!"

The two Riffs regarded him with astonishment.

"Master, I do not understand," said the perplexed Hassi.

"No," agreed the Red Shadow, "you do not understand me. That is because you are Mohammedans while I am French."

"But," interrupted Sid El Kar, "none of the band knows you're French, except us two!"

"That is why I am asking this promise of you," insisted their leader. "No harm must ever come to Margot Bonvalet."

"Now, listen, Master," argued Hassi, "after all she's only a woman."

"That is the oriental in you," retorted the Frenchman, "you cannot understand western love," him full in the face, cursing him and calling him a cowardly traitor. To escape the inevitable sentence that the court martial would pass for insubordination, he fled to the hills where the Riffs made their lair.

Old Hassi nodded. He remembered the night well, remembered the masked figure who had stepped into their camp and shouted defiantly, "Give me twenty of your young men who are not afraid to die! And if the law is wrong, we'll overturn the law!"

"I was only a boy indeed," condeceiving my father. Now because he thinks I am a weakling, he hates me. That is bad enough, but to see Margot despise me too! Why, I came to Morocco to show Margot I was a man!"

Back among the tents there came a scurry of excitement. A volley of guttural oaths filled the night as a dozen of the Red Shadow's men dragged in a prisoner caught by the sentry. He was thrown unceremoniously in front of the fire—five feet of insignificant dressed in bulging riding breeches fashioned out of enorbut let me tell you this, I would not be your leader if it were not for this Margot."

Then for the first time he disclosed to them the motives that had led him, an outsider, to champion the cause of the Riffs and their people. A strange story it was that he told! Eight years ago in Paris he had fallen in love with this girl. She had refused to take him seriously, had called him a silly boy—so he had enlisted in the French army to prove to her that he was a man. He set out from home with a contingent sailing for Morocco, under the command of General Fontaine, Captain Fontaine's own father.

This general had been notorious for his cruel treatment of the natives. Sometimes his own men used to refer to him secretly as the Butcher. One day he had commissioned the one now known as the Red Shadow to raid a certain village. The soldier had refused to exercise this unnecessary brutality and his superior had struck him down. It was hard to say which was the most ludicrous—outlandish clothes, his mustache on his tiny face, pale with consternation.

Hassi drew his sword, "Let's kill him! He's a spy! I'm after blood."

The stranger's squeaky voice protested, "Well, don't look at me. I'm anaemic!"

The menacing face of Hassi terrified him.

"You can't kill me, I'm an American! I'm no spy, I'm only the society correspondent for the Paris Herald. I didn't even mean to come here. Early this morning I went out horseback riding with my friend, Pierre Birabeau. Later he gave me the slip and I thought he had headed this way."

At this point the Red Shadow came forward. He spoke in the Rif's native tongue. What he said meant that the prisoner should be released.

"So I continued to play the fool," he went on, "and I succeeded in mous checks. It was hard to say which was the most ludicrous—outlandish clothes, his mustache on his tiny face, pale with consternation.

Your FULL MONEY'S WORTH

Does economy figure in your selection of a motor fuel?

It does with most motorists. And especially with large commercial-car fleet operators who buy gasoline on the cold, calculating basis of how efficiently it aids in everything affecting the operation of an automobile.

They take into account the power it delivers. The mileage it gives. The time it saves (in starting and getaway). The completeness with which it burns—the carbon cleaning, valve grinding and oil diluting it eliminates. The repairless condition in which it leaves the motor after a hard season's use.

On that basis new-type ATLANTIC GASOLINE is the choice of large users to the extent of many millions of gallons yearly. On that basis it inevitably will be your choice too.

It is the greatest money's worth in today's motor fuel market.

Newly perfected refining processes have made Atlantic Gasoline a strictly extra-powered motor fuel. And unlike many other motor fuels claiming this much-sought feature, the extra power in Atlantic is developed without sacrifice of easy starting.

It is smooth-acting, yet it loses nothing in snap and pick-up.

It is so clean and complete-burning that carbon and oil dilution are almost imperceptible.

It is all gasoline!—the most splendidly balanced all-round motor fuel you have ever used!

And, being produced in huge volume by one of the largest refining organizations in the world, it comes to you without extra cost.

ATLANTIC GASOLINE

EXTRA-POWERED No EXTRA COST

ATLANTIC Paraffine Base MOTOR OIL

is a worthy team-mate for Atlantic Gasoline. Stays efficient; consumes slowly ... maximum money's worth!

POWER is generated by energy and energy by the will "to do."

Have you ever seen a heavy cart stuck fast in a rut of mud? The jaded horse unable to move it another inch because of drooping spirit and lack of interest.

A dozen onlookers--some merely waiting to see what is going to happen--others giving advice and direction. But none of these will start the cart moving.

Then from the crowd step out three or four 'doers.' They put their shoulders to the wheel lending both effort and example until others follow them. The thing begins to move---gains momentum as all things do when once out of a rut.

And so, also, is it with civic progress---community movements, local enterprise ---when "doers put their shoulders to the wheel."

ALL MECHANISM

where it belongs!

THERE are many reasons why all the mechanism of the General Electric Refrigerator is placed on top of the cabinet. Here are three vital reasons:

1. Refrigerating mechanisms develop heat in the process of cooling the interior of the refrigerator. This heat escapes and rises. Therefore, General Electric has placed the refrigerating mechanism on top so that the escaping heat travels away from the cabinet.

2. Placing all the mechanism of the General Electric on top of the cabinet achieves maximum food storage space within the cabinet. It also saves floor space and permits the cabinet to be mounted on legs giving ample broom-room underneath for easy cleaning.

3. With refrigerating mechanism on top of the cabinet, the inside of the cabinet is free from obstructions and easier to clean. The constantly rising current of air from the hermetically sealed mechanism prevents dust from settling on the top or coils.

There are more than 300,000 users—and not one has ever spent a dollar for repairs.

Visit our display rooms and see the new all-steel General Electric Refrigerators.

Let us explain these 14 superiorities.

- 1...an hermetically sealed mechanism.
- 2...an all-steel, warp-proof cabinet.
- 3...an accessible temperature control.
- 4...a mechanism that requires no oiling.
- 5...troublesome machinery eliminated.
- 6...a new standard of quiet operation.
- 7...upon legs with broom-room underneath.
- 8...no installation problem whatever.
- 9...a porcelain chilling chamber.
- 10...entire mechanism mounted on top.
- 11...maximum food storage space.
- 12...absolutely no radio interference.
- 13...an unqualified two-year guarantee.
- 14...convenient easy payments.

COLORED A. C. WINS
SECOND STRAIGHT GAME

By T. M. Juno

The Bristol Colored A. C. captured its second consecutive victory of the second half of the Bristol Twilight League on St. Ann's field last evening, defeating the Independents, 7-2.

The win gives the colored team a slight advantage over the Hibernians and Federals who have won one each, and are undefeated. The "Aces" are also undefeated. Tonight the Hibernians play the Federals. The winner will then be tied with the colored boys for first place.

The A. C. played glittering ball and pulled some fine plays which would have caused runs if not executed in the right way.

Lawson was the first player to reach the spotlight. In the initial frame with Gaffney on second he made two wonderful catches of hoists from the bat of Brushia and Antonelli.

Allen came to his own rescue in the second by whiffing Piazza and Angelo with two runners on the sacks.

MR. ROBERT L. MEYERS

"For many years I suffered from kidney trouble and constipation," said Mr. Robert L. Meyers, 325 Summit Avenue, Bethlehem, Pa. "Dizzy spells, when spots appeared before my eyes, came over me every time I stooped over. Because of nervousness, I was unable to obtain any sound sleep."

"Three bottles of Konjola and I was free of constipation. My digestion was restored and my kidneys strengthened and regulated. I would not be without Konjola even though I had to spend my last cent on it. Why, it is a remarkable medicine, a boon to suffering humanity."

Konjola is sold in Bristol at Hoffman's Cut Rate store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.—(Adv.)

matches. The following plan was proposed by the president, Miss Elizabeth Foster, and accepted by the club: A winner and a loser of the single matches will play on a side in the mixed doubles. Outline of the schedule as completed to date is as follows: Elizabeth Foster and John Wheeler opposing Elma E. Haefner and William Claus; Charles Smith and Dorothy Dicken against Adeline E. Reetz and Richard Hopkins; Roman Pulaski and Helen Bilger opposing Hugh Webster and Grace Illick. Participants in other matches will be announced later. In a recent singles tournament play John Wheeler won over Charles Smith, 6-1; 6-4. A new member has been added to the roster making a total of 20.

Bristol Moose to Parade
At Doylestown Tomorrow

Members of Bucks Lodge, No. 1169, Loyal Order of Moose, are going to Doylestown tomorrow where they will parade and participate in the dedication of a new home for the Doylestown Lodge of Moose.

The bus will leave the Bristol Home at one o'clock tomorrow afternoon and all members who desire to go by this means of transportation are requested to leave their names with the steward at the Home tonight.

The Moose Lodge of Doylestown will dedicate the new $45,000 Moose Home tomorrow afternoon. Hon. James J. Davis, Secretary of Labor in President Hoover's cabinet, and director general of the Moose Order, will be present and make the dedicatory speech.

The dedication ceremony will start promptly at 2 o'clock with a street parade in which members of the Doylestown Moose and nearby lodges, several bands, the A. R. Atkinson Drum and Bugle Corps and others will participate.

Formation of the parade will take place on Shewell avenue at the intersection of Union street.

The dedication will take place between 3 and 4 o'clock, when Director General Davis will be the speaker.

There will be a concert in the auditorium in the evening by Prof. Louis Pearlman and his orchestra.

Throughout the day the new home will be open for inspection to the public.

Dictator Ross Hall, general chairman of the dedication, recently appointed the following committee to take charge of preparations: Reception and entertainment, Edward B. Watson; lunch, Harris Holmes; invitation, J. Roy Johnson; parade, William K. Tryling; publicity, A. Russell Thomas.

Presbyterians to Picnic at Maple Beach Tomorrow

The annual picnic of the Bristol Presbyterian Sunday School will be held tomorrow afternoon at Maple Beach. This splendid location is secured through the courtesy of the Rohm & Hass Company.

Transportation will be furnished for those who wish to go. There will be the hay wagon for the children and others who desire this unusual method of transportation. This is always popular, and in years past many have come to the church in automobiles and then taken the hay wagon to the beach.

The start will be made from the church (Cedar street entrance) at 1 p. m.

An abundance of ice cream and peanuts and candy will be given free to the members of the Sunday School and their families. Races of all kinds will be held. A fine old-fashioned good time is assured all who attend.

METHODISTS TO PICNIC

Tomorrow afternoon the members of the Methodist Episcopal Sunday School will enjoy their annual picnic at Woodlawn Park, Trenton. It is hoped that all members will attend the picnic and make it the largest one ever held. A good time is anticipated.

CARD PARTY

This evening, there will be a card party, given in connection with the lawn fete for the benefit of the Harman Hospital, held on the hospital grounds. Table assignments will be made at 8:30 sharp and pinochle, "500" and bridge will be played. Mrs. Edward Renk is in charge of the party and she is anticipating a large attendance to play cards, and there will also be many pretty prizes to be given to those having high scores.

SPIRITUAL CAMP OPENS

PARKLAND, July 12.—The headquarters of the local branch of the National Spiritual Association has opened meetings for July and August. Sessions take place each Sunday at 10:30 and 2:30 o'clock.

WRITES TWO SONGS

Anthony Cashner, of Beaver street, is in New York, where he is having two songs which he recently composed arranged for publication. The songs are entitled: "Smiling Irish Eyes," "You Made A Promise to Me."

CARD PARTY

Friday evening, July 19th, a card party will be held in Hibernian Hall on Corson street, for the benefit of a worthy charity cause. Pinochle and

"500" will be played and beautiful prizes will be awarded. Everyone is welcome to attend.

Town Briefs

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Daniels, of 313 Walnut street, will spend Sunday at Seaside, N. J., visiting their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo Shinn, of Burlington, N. J., who with their children are occupying their cottage at the seashore resort for the summer months.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas G. Hawkes and daughter, Miss Anna Hawkes, of "Shadyside," Edgely, are occupying their summer lodge in the Poconos.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Fallon and daughters, Lorraine and Mary Frances, of Crocydon, and Miss Peggy Heath, of Buckley street, spent Sunday at Seaside, N. J.

Johnston MacAuley, of 344 Jefferson avenue, spent last week at Hot Springs, Va.

Mrs. Horace Davis and children, of Otter street, are passing the summer in Seaside Heights, N. J. Mr. Davis joins his family over the week-ends at the seashore resort.

Miss Mary King, of 210 Jefferson avenue, is spending part of her vacation in Seaside Heights.

TONSILS REMOVED

Miss Ruth Ehrlen, of Langhorne, had her tonsils removed at Dr. Steel's office. She is now at her home.

Professor Vivio, Musician,
Visits His Brother Here

Professor Anthony Vivio, formerly concert master of the Buffalo Beethoven Symphony Orchestra, and composer of many classical and popular numbers, arrived in Bristol Wednesday, July 10th, after a concert tour of Italy.

The noted musician, who is also a violinist of merit, is the guest of his brother, Vittorio Vivio, of 215 Jefferson avenue. He is accompanied by his bride.

While in Italy Professor Vivio gave concerts in various cities. At Salzano he was awarded a diploma of honor and silver cross by the "Liceo Musicale" for merit of his compositions in a contest participated in by hundreds of musicians.

The press likewise acclaimed him for his meritorious interpretations as a violin virtuoso in concert hall and theatre.

Professor and Mrs. Vivio, after a short stay in Bristol, will go to New York, where he intends to open a studio and prepare for a concert tour of this country.

A concert in Bristol is also contemplated by the Professor, who believes that there are enough lovers of classical music in Bristol to make such a venture successful.
